

In addition to the valuable training and experience that the ten members received, the weekend produced fantastic results for Ceri's project, which as seen below, show a clear negative, (white), image of the villa on the right and possible Iron Age hut circles to the left. The report of all the work at the site will be available later in the year.

---

Lectures 2003/2004

Hereunder is the programme for the 2003-04 winter lectures which will again be held at the Bath Royal Literary and Scientific Institution, 18 Queen Square, Bath. The lectures begin at 7.30, admission £1 to members and £2 to non-members which include light refreshments.

- 9 October 2003 - 'Recent Archaeological Discoveries in Bath, a New View of the Roman Town', given by Marek Lewcun from the Bath Archaeological Trust.
- 13 November 2003 - 'The Annual Archaeological Review', conducted by the Society's Director of Excavations Mrs Jayne Lawes, followed by the Society's Annual General Meeting.
- 12 December 2003 - 'Cities of Vesuvius', given by Tom Barklem from the University of Bristol.
- 8 January 2004 - 'Roman Villas in Bradford on Avon', given by Mark Corney from the University of Bristol.
- 12 February 2004 - 'Building the Pantheon in Rome', given by Mark Wilson Jones from the University of Bath.
- 11 March 2004 - 'Roman Sculpture in South-Western Britain', given by Dr. Martin Henig from the University of Oxford.

For further information on any of the above, or for information on the Society, please telephone Mrs Ceri Lambdin on 01225 761026, email ceri@lambdin.fsnet.co.uk, or go to www.bacas.org.uk