

FOREWORD

The papers in this Miscellany are summaries of a series of lectures given at a conference on local history and archaeology held in Bath on Sunday March 14th, 1965. Too often it happens that valuable information collected from various sources by the contributors to such conferences is left unrecorded and it is with this in mind, and in the hope that they will prove of interest to the general reader, that these papers are published.

The substance of a few of the papers has already appeared in various specialised journals, but most of the material here published appears in print for the first time.

The Bath and Camerton Archaeological Society desire to express their thanks to the contributors. They also thank their President, Sir Mortimer Wheeler, for reading the papers in type-script, and Mr. R. K. Bluhm, who has edited the publication.
