Peter Greening's Last Report as Chairman November 1993

First of all I would like to say that the past year has produced a most welcome increase in new members, some of whom I am pleased to see here tonight. Richard Maggs, our speaker is one of them. Principally, we have to thank our energetic Secretary, Sue Langdon for this. She took the oppotunity during an exhibition staged at Radstock to sell some copies of the Camerton Report and at the same time made some new members for us. As usual she has worked hard during the past year and arranged a series of good lectures which have been reasonably well attended, given that people are increasingly unwilling to venture out at night in Bath. We would welcome your views on the problem.

Niel Anderson, Excursion Secretary has also worked hard during the past year and laid on some most interesting meetings, all of which were enjoyed by those who attended them. It was good to see them so well supported.

We are all delighted to have our Treasurer, Arthur Clout with us tonight and that he has made such a good recovery. He will be presenting the financial statement.

We are also most fortunate to have Dave Higgins to provide for us a series of excellent publicity posters and handouts. His work to promote publicity for us is most welcome. I think he first joined the Society as a boy. I hope that the time will not be far distant when we can again publish papers on work undertaken by our members as we did with the Two North Somerset Miscellanies. The Secretary is anxious, as we all are, to promote more activities for members of the Society.

It remains for me to thank, on your behalf, the Secretary, Treasurer, Excursion Secretary and the other members of the committee,and particularly Win Underhay for giving hospitality at her home for Committee Meetings.

This report was taken from the notes that Peter Greening made for the meeting. As many of the readers of this Camertonia will know he was unable to attend the meeting and died a short time later.
