

it's hills" revealed the great wealth of his knowledge, and the publication of these lectures in a popular form would be a fitting memorial to a much loved figure.

The late Abbot was very proud to be first President of the Camerton Club and was always eager to hear of it's activities; his work on the Camerton site from 1926 onwards will always be remembered, especially by the writer, who derived much pleasure and assistance, and made many friends as the result of his acquaintance with him.

Abbot Home was a convert to the Catholic Church; he joined the Downside Community in 1878 and was Parish Priest at Stratton-on-Fosse for nearly fifty years. He was appointed Prior of Downside in 1929 and held that office until 1934, and was later named Titular Abbot of Glastonbury. He passed peacefully away at his beloved Downside on All Soul's day in the seventy-third year of his religious life, and was within a few days of his ninety-fourth birthday.

The election of Sir Mortimer Wheeler C.I.E., F.B.A., F.S.A. as the club's President is in accord with the Abbot's wish, who always had a great interest in Sir Mortimer's brilliant career.

W. J. W.

DR. ARTHUR BULLIED L.R.C.P., F.S.A.

Dr. Arthur Bullied who died at his home Dymboro, Midsomer Norton on the 27th Dec. 1951 at the age of 89 will be best remembered as the discoverer and excavator of the Glastonbury and Meare Iron Age "B" period Lake Villages.

Many of his interests were shared with our late President Abbot Home, and they were very great friends over a period of many years. They shared jointly the direction of the excavation of the large Roman courtyard type villa at Keynsham, and it was largely due to him that the Saxon cemetery was excavated at Camerton.

Dr. Bullied was a most careful and accurate excavator and in addition to his work at the Lake Villages he also carried out research work and published papers on the Somerset Burtle sandbeds and the chambered barrows of North Somerset.

The "Doctor" was much beloved by the mining community in the Midsomer Norton district where he lived, surrounded by a beautiful garden of which he was very proud, and a home which contained many lovely pictures mostly of flowers, which had been executed by himself and his wife, who is also an accomplished artist.

Dr. Bullied was essentially a kindly man and the writer recalls with much pleasure his early visits to Dymboro where he received encouragement and advice in the early twenties.

The Camerton Club was proud to have Dr. Bullied as one of its members, and he was always keenly interested in its activities.

W. J. W.